

LYN RYE

"As a versatile bassist who plays with folk, jazz, hip-hop, and rock musicians, Rye is someone who can create genuine newness. Being able to create beats, sing, play bass, and collaborate allows them to escape any boxes threatening to confine their music to genres."

Scapi Magazine, March 2019

BIO

Lyn Rye is a bassist, singer, and composer based in Chicago, IL. They released their debut album Roots of Rye in January 2019. The album resulted from a 4-month experiment to self-produce and release a song every week, and features guest appearances from Sacramento Knox, Joshua Virtue, Kyle Paul, and others.

In addition to performing as a solo artist, Lyn Rye can be found performing, recording, and touring with artists such as The Salaam-Shalom Music Project (world folk), Al Scorch (alt-country), Ben Burden (hip-hop), Not Lovely (jazz/hip-hop), and Evergreen (jazz).

Lyn Rye frequently collaborates with OneBeat, a program funded by the U.S. State Department that brings together artists from around the world to create socially-engaged, original music and tour with performances and educational workshops. Lyn Rye was a Fellow for the U.S. 2017 program and the Balkan 2019 program and traveled to Colombia this summer as part of the OneBeat alumni project Todas Las Puertas.
